SLIDING TO SAFETY, a pilot in one of the Navy's new twin-engine jet F3D skynight all-weather fighters demonstrates the latest method of abandoning ship as he drops through the cockpit floor. The tests were made over El Centro, Calif., while flying at speeds up to 450-miles-an-hour. Photographed from another plane, the pilot (top) slides from the belly of his ship. Taken with the aid of wiroirs (center and bottom photos), the flier is shown clearing the "stricken" craft.

Antique Shop Explosion Kills 5 Near Detroit

Gas Leaks; Burst Heard For Miles In Suburb

BIRMINGHAM, Mich., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Cranes and bulldozers probed early today in the charred remains of a popular antique shop where five persons perished in a spectacular gas explosion last night.

One other person is missing and four more were injured in the blast that shook this quiet, fashionable suburb north of Detroit at 8:50 p. m. Sunday.

The bodies of two men and two women, burned too badly for positive identification, already have been taken from the ruins.

Firemen were looking for another man believed to have died, and there was a possibility that the man's 12-year-old son also was trapped in the old, three-story frame building when it went up in flames.

Only the chimney was left standing. The mighty blast broke windows in an area of three square miles, and one man said he heard it in his home eight miles away.

Two of the bodies were believed to be those of Mrs. Charles E. Jones, 70-year-old widow, and her crippled son, Wilson, about 40, owners of the Mother and Son Antique store that was a community landmark.

The others were identified tentatively as Lee Carroll, 46-year-old Birmingham fire prevention expert who had been called in to check a gas leak, and Mrs. Roy T. Branson, a customer.

Missing are Arthur Wilson of Dearborn, another Detroit suburb and his son, Wilson's wife, Florence, was injured when she was blown 200 feet by the blast. Found in a deep ravine next to the ruined building, she was taken to St. Joseph Mercy hospital in Pontiac.

The other injured, two policemen and a passerby, suffered only minor hurts and were released after receiving first aid.

Ward Reveals How Reds Treated Him

ABOARD LAKELAND VICTORY, off Tientsin, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Angus Ward and his party of 19 are free, at last, from Red China... and feeling "just how you'll feel after St. Peter lets you in!"

It was the first time in 13 months Ward had been able to move without an armed escort. And 28 days of that time he was in a Chinese Communist jail, in solitary confinement, in Mukden. On 24 of those days he was kept in unheated, or underheated quarters in freezing temperatures.

He lost 25 pounds.

His jail menu was six slices of bread daily... and hot water.

"That's not a very strengthening or fattening diet," he quipped.

For all members of the party, including Mrs. Ward, several women and some children, it was the first time they had not been under Red surveillance since Nov. 20, 1948. On that date the Reds closed the consulate and clamped such secrecy on their movements and fate that even the U. S. State department knew virtually nothing about them.

City Reserve Unit To Shift Quarters

The local Military Government Service Group will move to its new headquarters on the ground floor of the Masonic Temple after Thursday, it was announced today.

Meetings will continue at the V.F.W. Hall until furniture and other supplies are received for the new quarters.

The organized reserves unit was authorized and located in Salem in May, 1949, with Lt. Col. John B. Arter commanding. The original assigned personnel included 16 officers and two enlisted men. Classes have been held bi-monthly for which pay and credits are given.

The unit has grown until it now includes a company and a platoon in addition to the headquarters, composed of 26 officers and 26 enlisted men.

It is contemplated to locate another organized reserve unit in Salem when, in the near future, an engineering company will be formed. It will also use the Masonic Temple quarters.

It is urged that all interested in the organized reserve corps program should attend the next meeting of the group at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday at the V.F.W.

2 Injured In 7 City Accidents Over Weekend

Mishaps Include 4 Of Hit-Skip Variety Reported To Police

Two persons were injured in seven local auto accidents over the weekend, police reported. Four of the mishaps were of the hit-skip variety.

The injured are Mrs. Ada B. Esterly of R. D. 4, Salem, and her daughter, Ruth. Mrs. Esterly sustained a lacerated lip and her daughter has contusions of the head and abrasions of the right knee.

Their car piled up at 478 Jennings ave. at 3:30 p. m. Saturday when it skidded out of control, went over the curb and hit two trees on the Nick Eastek property.

Mrs. Esterly was driving. The car's grille was caved in, windshield broken and left front fender and bumper damaged.

Driver Leaves Scene

James L. Nutt, 20, of Alliance told police he was driving east on W. State st. at 12:35 a. m. Sunday and started to make a left turn onto Route 14 (Benton rd.). As he did so, another car passed several autos behind him and hit the left side of his vehicle.

The car did not stop, but Nutt got its license number. The car, police learned, was driven by Charles R. Koontz of 282 W. State st.

The door and running board on Nutt's car were damaged.

Autos Collide

Cars driven by Roland Bush of 789 Franklin st. and John Novak of Box 58, Lisbon, collided at the corner of Third and Vine at 9:08 p. m. Saturday.

Bush was driving west on Third when the Novak car hit him on the side, coming out of Vine. Both were damaged.

Cars Slightly Damaged

Slight damage was inflicted to cars operated by Warren Hilliard, 48, of R. D. 2, Salem, and Leroy Zimmerman of R. D. 1, Leetonia, when they collided on E. Pershing st. at 9:05 p. m. Saturday.

3 Hit-Skips Reported

Three hit-skip mishaps occurred in the same manner, with parked cars being struck and the drivers of the other cars leaving the scene.

Wayne E. Slosser of 284 E. Sixth st. told police his car was hit while parked on N. Lincoln ave. between 8 p. m. and 1 a. m. Sunday. The left rear fender was damaged.

Robert Seaton of 196 W. Sixteenth st. said his car was hit while parked in front of his home some time after midnight Sunday. Damage was inflicted to the left rear fender, also.

The left side of a car owned by James Edwards of 384 E. Pershing was smashed by a hit-skipper at about 8:20 p. m. Saturday on Pershing near Penn ave.

Barn, Garage Destroyed In Fire

A two-story barn, a lean-to garage and a 1940 Chevrolet sedan, all owned by Bartha Tonsch of 1170 Newgarden st., were destroyed by a fire at 7:28 p. m. Saturday.

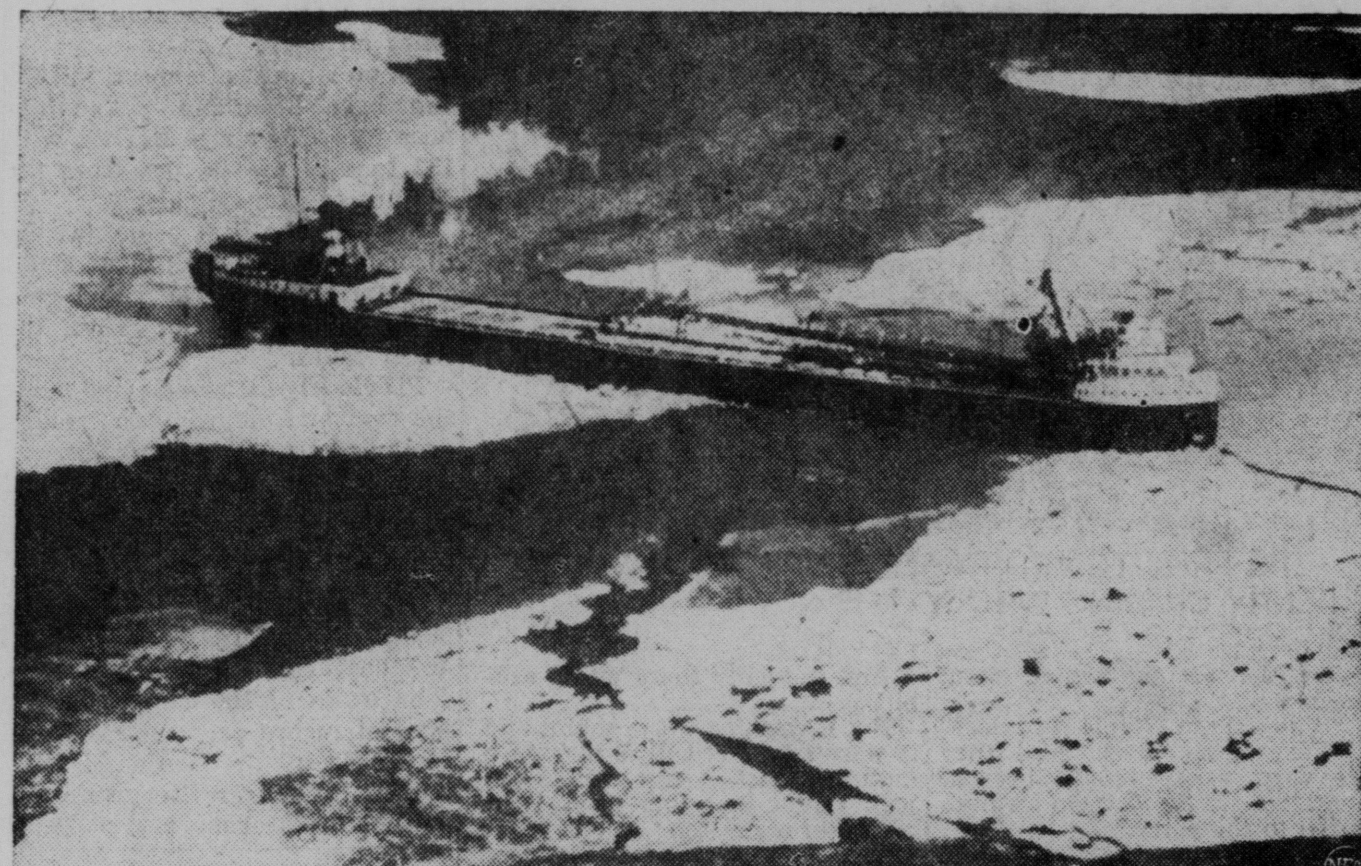

Also lost was some lumber, stored on the second floor of the barn. The barn was gutted by the fire.

The flames were breaking through the roof of the building when the department arrived, but the Tonsch family was still unaware of the fire. The cause is believed to be a short in the car's wiring.

CAUGHT IN WINTER'S GRIP

—Symbolic of the new icy grip winter has on a large part of the United States is the freighter George F. Rand, grounded while bucking ice in Saginaw Bay, Lake Huron. An ever-thickening field of ice closes in on the 532-foot ship, loaded with 8000 tons of coal, threatening to imprison it for the winter. At right—Nature decorated the tanker Traverse City Socony with festoons of ice weighing many tons during a stormy passage on Lake Michigan in near-zero temperatures. Deck hands hacked through the walls of ice before the ship could discharge her cargo at Muskegon, Mich.

Tornadoes, Snow Kill 11 In U. S.

North Central States Bear Heaviest Blows

By The Associated Press
Screaming tornadoes, a whistling blizzard and flashing lightning killed at least 11 persons in various parts of the nation over the weekend.

The known deaths from other causes indirectly attributed to the weather had mounted to 34.

Property damage from the tornadoes which lashed North Central Arkansas, Oklahoma, Missouri and Illinois was high. Arkansas alone estimated its damage might reach $100,000.

All the tornado dead are in Kansas and Missouri. The twisters hammered six Arkansas communities yesterday, killed three persons and injured ten. Many escaped the fury by taking shelter in storm cellars. The communities hit were Clinton, Beedee, Velvet Ridge, Cross Roads, Providence and Bradford. Two were killed at Cross Roads, one at Providence.

Near Poplar Bluff, in southeastern Missouri, six persons were killed and 15 injured by a tornado which cut through ten miles of farm area.

Some farm buildings were unroofed in Madison county, in Southern Illinois, by another twister but no one was injured.

Hannibal, Mo. reported considerable property damage from high winds. Three persons were injured there.

Nine-year-old Juania Kay Lovelless was killed by lightning as she stood in the doorway of a smokehouse on the family's farm near Modesto, Ill. At Miles City, Mont., a 98-year-old retired stockman was found dead of exposure to a blizzard which had swept the Rocky mountain area.

The blizzard had moved eastward with diminishing force today into northern Minnesota, but the entire Great Lakes region was buffeted by strong winds. Snow flurries were occurring in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Northern Michigan and Northern Iowa along with falling temperatures.

Mrs. Jackson's sorority sisters said she had been "pinned" (engaged) to Bednasek last spring but sent his fraternity pin back to him last summer. Since school started this fall they had been dating often, but were not "going steady," the sorority girls said. The girl had invited another man to her sorority dance Friday night.

However Mrs. Olga Bednasek said at Cedar Rapids her son and Miss Jackson planned to be married "in about four years," after Bednasek completed graduate work in psychology.

Mrs. Bednasek said her husky 175-pound son told her when she asked him yesterday if he killed the girl:

"I must have. I was the only one in the room. I don't know how it happened because my mind is a blank."

Senior Charged In Coed Murder

Doesn't Remember Killing Girl Friend

IOWA CITY, Ia., Dec. 12.—(AP)—A beautiful University of Iowa coed was found strangled in a men's rooming house yesterday and a senior student who said he was in love with the girl is charged with murdering her.

Robert Emil Bednasek, 24, was to be arraigned at 2 p. m. today on the charge. The co-ed was Margaret Ann (Gee-Gee) Jackson, 20, of Burlington, Iowa.

Dr. George D. Callahan, Johnson county coroner, said after an autopsy that death was "murder caused by strangulation."

In his jail cell last night, Bednasek denied to newsmen he murdered the girl.

Pacing nervously, he said: "She was completely in love with me, and I with her. I did not murder her. I have never been capable of murder."

The girl's father, William E. Jackson, an attorney and member of the Iowa parole board, denied his daughter was in love with Bednasek. He said the girl was involved in a "one-sided romance" with Bednasek.

Miss Jackson's sorority sisters said she had been "pinned" (engaged) to Bednasek last spring but sent his fraternity pin back to him last summer. Since school started this fall they had been dating often, but were not "going steady," the sorority girls said. The girl had invited another man to her sorority dance Friday night.

Eight Children Die In Cabin Fire

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Dec. 12.—(AP)—An unemployed laborer and his wife remained in too critical a condition from burns today to give full details of a fire that brought death to eight children.

Bert Edkins, his wife, and a step-son, Edgar Cosgrove, 14, survived the fire that destroyed a two-story cabin Saturday night.

Those killed in the blaze—all children and step-children of Edkins—were Edward, 13, Henry, 12, Joseph, 11, Raymond, 9, Robert, 7, Phyllis Beverly, 5, Birtriss, 3, and Beatrice, 1.

A 15-year-old daughter was believed at first to have perished also, but later was found at a neighbor's home.

The small cabin at Cascade, Pa., was consumed by the flames in a matter of moments. Cascade is 18 miles northwest of Williamsport in central Pennsylvania. The Cascade section has a number of such cabins, most of them used by hunters.

State Department To Take Idea Before Congress Leaders

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—(AP)—The United States, Britain and Canada have virtually completed the broad outlines for a new partnership in the development of atomic energy and atomic bombs. The next move will be for the State department to take up the proposals with congressional leaders.

The proposed plan—which will apparently come to nothing unless congress is prepared in some way to authorize it—reportedly would provide for continued concentration of atomic weapon manufacture in this country. It is said to contemplate that British and Canadian scientists would participate in the work.

Discussion of the three powers' roles moved to the foreground, at least temporarily, with the lull in the congressional atomic investigation. That inquiry deals with how the Russians were able to get atomic materials from the U. S. during the war. Congressional probes said over the week-end they have asked for wartime records of the chemical warfare service as a possible clue.

Under the projected American-British-Canadian partnership in the future, Britain would abandon its plans for making A-bombs, as in fact it appears to have done already. Thus would end the threat of a future British claim to a larger share of the Belgian Congo uranium—the greater part of which now comes to the United States.

Responsible authorities say there would be several advantages to this arrangement. First, it would assure the western world a maximum of output of atomic bombs of the kind the United States is able to make in the shortest possible time. Second, it would prevent dispersion of effort as between this country and Britain. Third, it would mean the continued development of atomic plants, including weapons factories, in places remote from any possible European war area.

Chiang Escapes Communist Plot

Chinese Leader Foils Reds In Yunnan Coup

HONG KONG, Dec. 12.—(UP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek narrowly escaped capture in the weekend coup which turned Yunnan province from Nationalist to Communist hands, reports reaching here said today.

Chiang escaped because of the loyalty of two of his generals and fled from Chengtu to the safety of his island fortress of Formosa, where he arrived Saturday night, the reports said.

One of his closest aids, Chang Chun, and two Nationalist generals were captured, however, when Chiang sent them to Kunming in an effort to foil the plot in which the city and province were seized by defecting Nationalist soldiers.

These reports said the plot to seize Kunming and Chengtu, if possible, was engineered from Hong Kong by Gen. Lung Yun, former warlord governor of Yunnan province who has been bitter against Chiang ever since the Generalissimo ousted him in 1945.

Lung obtained the co-operation of Gov. Lu Han of Yunnan province, his half-brother. Lu Han in turn sent secret messages to Chiang's two top generals in Chungtu, Gen. Teng Shih-Hou and Gen. Kang Chanshu, suggesting they could redeem themselves and bring an end to the civil war by seizing Chiang and turning Chengtu over to the Communists.

The two generals apparently refused to take part in the plot and warned Chiang, who sent his top aides to Kunming in an effort to stop the plotters.

Kunming was seized as scheduled and Chiang's three representatives were captured when they landed at the airport there. The two generals accompanying Chang were Li Mi and Chang Yu-wan, commanders of the two army groups stationed in Yunnan.

Santa and the Magician

Chapter 7

A TERRIBLE LOSS

"MACKEREL in a sack!" exclaimed Serena impatiently. "Go ahead and peep in the box. Didn't Santa say make yourself at home?"

Now Mr. Dilly always carried his magic in his pocket. He had a wand and a rope and cards and scarves and goodness knows what else stuffed into his pockets. There wasn't any room left for even a handkerchief.

But Santa kept his magic in a little black box. Mr. Dilly thought he would be the happiest man in the world if he could just see what Santa's magic looked like. He tiptoed into the corner and got down on his knees and carefully unhooked the box. Instantly the top sprang open.

What do you suppose was there? A wand. A simple black wand that looked exactly like the wand Mr. Dilly and every other magician carries.

"Doesn't he have any tricks?" asked Henry in surprise.

"He doesn't need tricks," said Mr. Dilly admiringly. "I guess he does all his magic with this. What a wonderful wand it must be!"

He picked up the wand and waved it in the air. "If I knew the magic words," he said wistfully, "I could get a rabbit out of my hat all by myself I guess."

"What about your book?" reminded Henry.

"Of course!" cried Mr. Dilly. He pulled out of his coat pocket a little book which was marked For Magicians Only. It explained magic tricks and had 47 pages of magic words and rhymes which magicians use when they do their magic.

Mr. Dilly opened the book to these pages and tried a few while he waved Santa's wand over his hat.

"Jumbo Mumbo and a heap big tumbo."

"Hilly Billy, swing your silly."

Nothing happened at all. But by now Mr. Dilly was determined to find the words which would make Santa's wand work. He slipped the wand in his pocket and shut the book.

"Most of these magic words have to be said outdoors," he explained. "I'm going out in the woods and try it."

MR. DILLY didn't mean a bit of harm. He was sure Santa wouldn't mind if he tried the wand and learned how to do the rabbit trick by himself. But he just couldn't wait for Santa to come back.

He slipped out the door. Henry and Serena went with him. Tweedleknies had just finished hanging the last Christmas light and was feeling more cheerful.

"Where are you off to?" he asked.

"Just into the woods for a bit," said Mr. Dilly.

"Mind you don't run into the Wiggle Waggles," said Tweedle-knees. "I hear they are all about the place."

"Who are the Wiggle Waggles?"

"Very nasty elves. And they are very, very annoyed because Santa did not send them an invitation to the party."

"Oh, yes, I remember," said Mr. Dilly. "Well, we'll be careful. Oh, but he wasn't careful at all. He just couldn't think of anything except how wonderful it was to have Santa's own wand in his hands and what a really splendid thing it would be if he could learn to work it all by himself."

He settled down in a little clump of trees with Serena and Henry beside him. He put his hat and his little book in front of him and held the wand lovingly in his hand.

For over an hour he worked, reading the magic formulas in the book and waving the wand. Still his hat remained empty.

Finally Henry said, "Please, could I hold the wand just one time?"

Mr. Dilly was quite worn out now. He gave the wand to Henry.

Serena said, "I'll try some of my rhymes." So Henry waved the wand and Serena said, "A root, toot, toot, who gives a hoot?"

And suddenly there was a rabbit!

But it wasn't a white rabbit and it wasn't in Mr. Dilly's hat. As a matter of fact, it was a plain old jack rabbit that had come hopping through the woods. But Henry thought surely it was a magic rabbit at last. He whooped and snatched Mr. Dilly's hat and leaped at the little creature.

The frightened rabbit gamboled away with Henry chasing wildly and not even hearing Mr. Dilly calling him back.

In a few seconds it was over. The rabbit darted in a hole where seven brother rabbits were waiting for him. Henry took one good look and saw there was nothing magic about any of them.

Just then Mr. Dilly caught up with him. "Where's the wand?"

Horried, Henry looked at his hands. They were empty. "I—I must have dropped it," he stammered.

"Quickly, start looking!" cried Mr. Dilly. "You, too, Serena. We must find it!"

But, alas! though they searched until dark they could not find the wand.

Wilfred Sykes On Lake Today

Largest Great Lakes Freighter Gets Trial

LORAIN, Dec. 12—(AP)—The Great Lakes largest freighter—678 feet long and 70 feet wide—is making a trial run today.

The futuramic Wilfred Sykes, built for Inland Steel of Chicago, by the American Ship Building Co., here, is the fastest vessel on the lakes.

Powered by geared 7,000-horsepower turbines the Sykes will make 16 miles an hour. Present vessels make between 12 and 14 miles an hour.

On an August afternoon in 1885 the brig Columbia poked her nose into Cleveland Harbor with 132 tons of mesabi ore from the Minnesota iron ranges.

She was the first vessel to ship through the new canal at Sault St. Marie, Mich. The canal connects Lake Superior with the lower lakes.

Previously all vessels had made the overland journey on rollers around the rapids at the Soo.

Since then capacities of Great Lakes freighters have grown until today the Sault is the world's busiest waterway.

The rakish Sykes will carry 20,000 tons of ore—enough to fill 400 coal cars or approximately four trains of 100 cars each. The present record ore cargo is 18,725 tons held by the Benjamin Fairless of Pittsburgh Steamship Co.

The Sykes can carry 28,000 tons, but the Detroit and St. Marys rivers are too shallow to permit loading to capacity. The St. Marys river connects Lakes Superior and Huron and the Detroit Lakes Huron and Erie. The vessel is expected to bring down some 900,000 tons of ore in 1950 to inland's dock at Indiana Harbor, Ind.

She will make the round trip from Duluth—831 miles one way—in approximately five days compared to six and one-half days ordinarily required. The vessel is under command of H. H. Kizer, of Chicago.

Columbiana Scouts To Hold Yule Party

COLUMBIANA, Dec. 12—Cub Pack 17, Boy Scouts, will have its annual Christmas party at the Presbyterian Church here Tuesday evening, Dec. 20, at 6:30. Cub Scouts and their families will be guests of the 100 Per Cent Class of the church, new sponsor of Pack 17.

After the coverdish dinner, the December pack meeting will be held. Several boys will receive advancement awards and Bobby Gilchrist will graduate into scouting. Santa Claus will also pay a visit.

If they plan to be present, parents are requested to notify some member of the committee, which is composed of Mrs. William Arbuckle, Mrs. Robert Clark, Mrs. Glenn Rupert at Rupert's bakery, and Mrs. Arthur Hickman.

Steel Price Jump Seen; Production Up

CLEVELAND, Dec. 12—(AP)—Steel prices are going to increase, "Steel" magazine predicted today.

The trade journal said that "important" increases loom but explained that an "across-the-board" raise "seems out."

As production costs go up, the magazine continued, major producers are going over their price schedules, concentrating on products where prices are out of line with costs.

The magazine noted that at least 10 small steelmakers hiked their prices within the past month, but said general increases were restrained by uncertainty concerning the demand for steel after the first quarter of 1950.

"Steel's" weighted index for finished steel prices, however, remained unchanged this week at 152.52. The arithmetical composite was unchanged at $91.64. Those figures a year ago were 151.86 and $95.50.

The ingot production rate continued to boom last week, jumping three and a half points to 93 per cent of capacity. That was the highest rate since May and is equivalent to about 1,720,000 tons a week.

Pettibone Club Remains Open

Lausche Will Hear Woldman's Report

CHARDON, Dec. 12—(AP)—Albert A. Woldman, state industrial relations chief, will report to Gov. Frank J. Lausche today on his unsuccessful attempts to close the Pettibone Club near here.

Woldman said at his home in Cleveland last night he also will confer with Atty. Gen. Herbert S. Duffy.

He has described the club as the "largest gambling joint in Ohio." Friday three representatives of his department ordered the club closed immediately on grounds it violated the state building code.

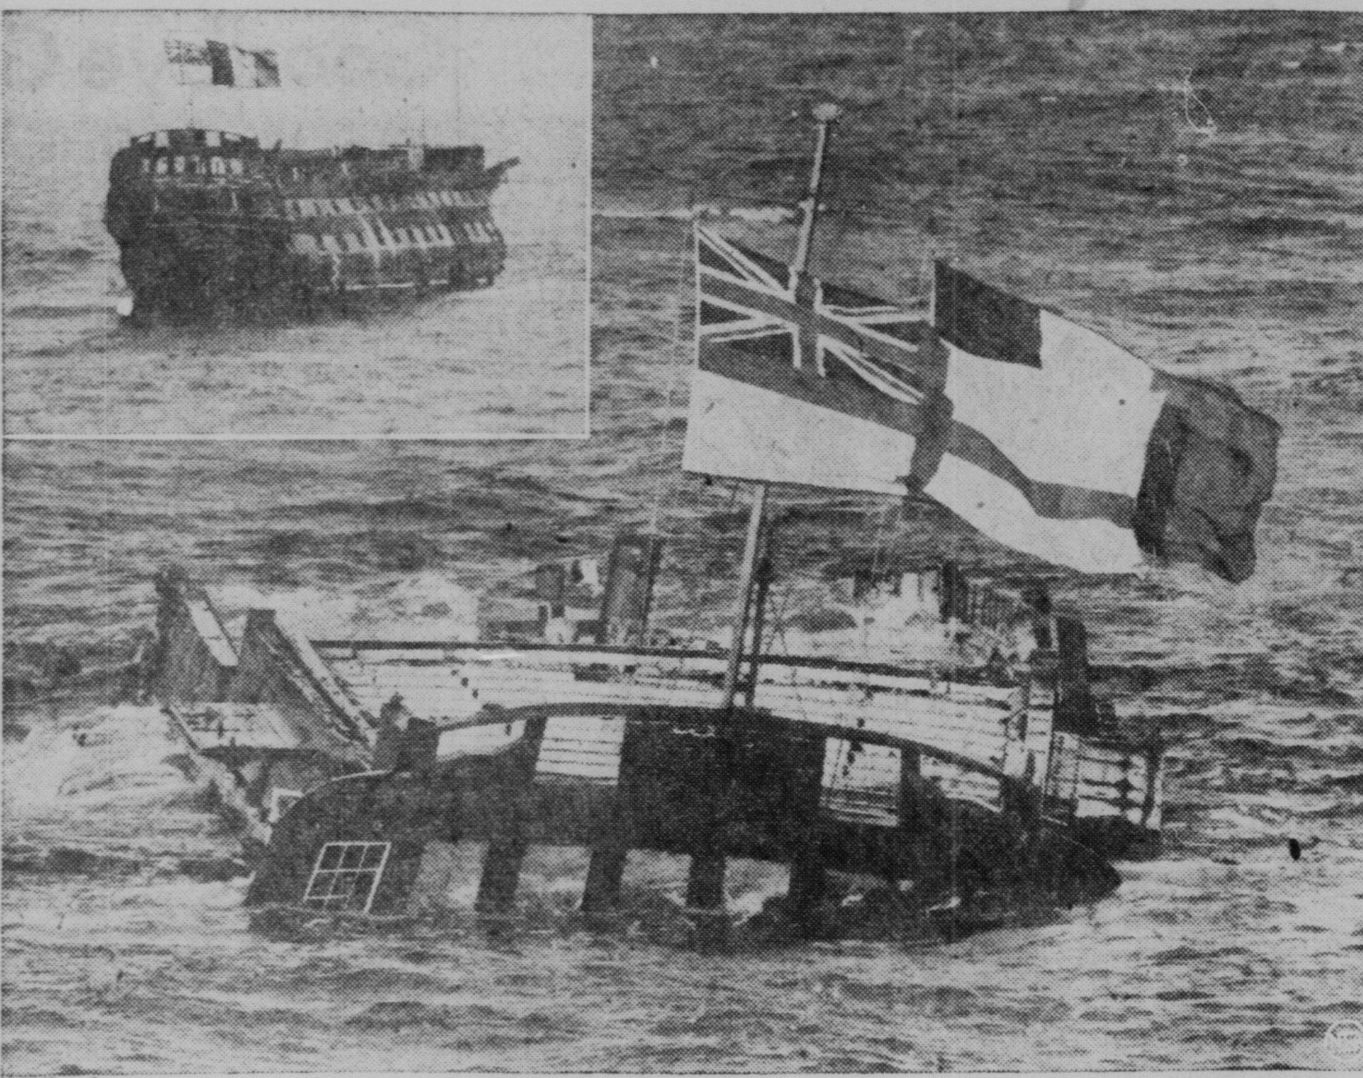

The club operated, however, and Saturday night warrants were prepared charging Club Superintendent Jack Lewis and Club Manager Abe Goldberg with ignoring the citation.

"The governor is insistent that the club be closed," said Woldman.

According to Woldman, a section of the state building code rules that a frame building used for assembly purposes and containing more than 6,000 square feet can be used in the summer only.

"The Pettibone Club has 24,000 square feet," he said. "But the club has made its own rules and is a law unto itself. The issue is clear cut—whether an illegitimate project will continue or the State of Ohio will prevail."

Inset shows the old ship being towed to her burial site. One of two ships surviving the famous battle of Trafalgar, the Implacable was captured from the French by the English. Naval leaders of both countries attended the ceremony in which the rotting relic was sent to the bottom.

Recipe For A Yuletide Party

By GAYNOR MADDOX
ASK the littlest members of the family their idea of the perfect party at Santa Claus time. Their answers will always be "just ice cream and sawe!"

For the party, hang a gaily wrapped but inexpensive toy on the Christmas tree for each of the invited guests and plan a game or two which provokes more laughter than excitement.

Lay in a supply of Santa Claus paper napkins and colorful unbreakable plates.

Ice cream, a high energy food, is listed, along with other dairy foods, as an important item in the daily diet by nutrition experts. It contains all nutrients of milk though in different proportions.

Ice Cream Pineapple Upside-down Cake
(Serves 8)

One and one-half quarts vanilla ice cream (bulk). Store ice cream in freezing compartment of refrigerator until needed.

To prepare topping: one-half cup butter, ¾ cup brown sugar, tightly packed, 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind, 8 slices pineapple, drained (contents of No. 2½ can), 8 maraschino cherries. Melt butter in a 9 or 10-inch skillet. Add brown sugar and lemon rind and stir until dissolved. Arrange slices of pineapple with a cherry in each slice on top of this mixture.

To prepare cake: five tablespoons butter, well beaten, 2/3 cup sugar, 2 eggs, well beaten, 2½ cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup milk.

Cream butter, add sugar and beaten egg and mix well. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together and add alternately with milk to butter mixture. Blend thoroughly, pour over fruit in pan and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 45 minutes.

To serve: Cut cake in 8 portions, allowing one whole slice of pineapple per serving. Top each with a generous portion of vanilla ice cream.

Loosen Regulations For Ohio Lakes

COLUMBUS, Dec. 12—(UP)—Liberalized restrictions on 35 lakes and numerous stream tributaries were adopted Saturday among the tentative regulations for the fishing season starting March 1, 1950, by the Wildlife council of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources.

Purpose of the liberalizing action was to determine the experimental effects of unlimited fishing on fish populations, the council said.

There will be no closed seasons, minimum legal lengths and bag limits in the liberalized areas named, the Wildlife report added.

The council approved opening one stream and its tributaries in each of the seven conservation districts in the state to liberalized fishing.

Streams in which restrictions were lifted included Riley creek in the northwestern district; Vermilion river in the north central district; Beaver creek in the northwestern district; Salt creek in the east central district; Big Walnut creek in the central Ohio district excepting Black lake and Alum creeks; Little East Fork of the Little Miami river in the northwestern district and Shade river in the southern Ohio district.

Records of fish management officials indicate that fishing restrictions have little if any effect on existing fish populations.

The possession limit for live wild bait was increased by the council from 50 to 100, and current restrictions as to bag limits, seasons and legal lengths were ordered continued except for the liberalized areas.

Council rulings resulted from a public hearing Dec. 8 in Columbus attended by councilmen and one farmer and one sportsman representative from each of the seven statewide districts.

Personal Discretion

During next year's census-taking, unless present plans are changed, every fifth person making less than $10,000 a year will be asked by the census taker how much his income actually is.

There is a curious background for this assumption of federal authority.

For one thing, it has no clear sanction in law. In the 1940 census, a great many citizens refused to answer the same question, and nothing was done about it. A showdown test on whether or not Congress ever gave or even implied authority to the Bureau of the Census to ask such a question is overdue.

Another thing—and a much more curious thing—is the reason census takers will ask the question. One might imagine the Census Bureau, if it wanted up-to-the-minute information on personal incomes, could step over to the Bureau of Internal Revenue and get it there. But that would be illegal.

When Congress accepted personal income taxes as a way of life it balked at making information about personal incomes public. Subsequently, it compromised that principle by permitting release of information about very large incomes; this was part of the New Deal's revenge against the financially successful. But information about private incomes in general was kept confidential.

Thus, the only way for the Census Bureau to find out what the Internal Revenue Bureau isn't allowed to tell it is to ask the people themselves. They can answer at their personal discretion. If they think it's no one's business how much they make—and especially the business of some political appointee helping to take the decennial census—they can respectfully decline to answer questions about their personal incomes.

Red Sugar

The Communist party line, observers are pointing out, is now drawn toward the single purpose of persuading the gullible that the Soviet union and the party are sole trustees of peace in a world being rushed into war by the opposition.

The opposition is labeled with such words as reactionaries, monopolists, fascists, imperialists and Wall Street. Its weapons are lies, aggression and plots to dominate mankind. The Soviet union and Communists in general are represented as friends of democracy, friends of the people, defenders of the working class and champions of freedom, friendship and fraternity.

This is a departure from the previous Communist line of world-wide revolution and dictatorship of the working class, and the reason for the change is obvious. There is no ready market for ideas of strife, bloodshed and dictatorship. But there is a market for ideas of friendship, co-operation and freedom. No one ever has denied that Communist propagandists were skillful. They know their market. They have mastered Adolph Hitler's technique of the big lie, endlessly repeated until it finally comes to be accepted as the truth.

The new Communist line needs to be understood so it can be resisted. Don't expect Communists or their sympathizers to talk any more about barricades in the streets and imminent revolution to establish proletarian dictatorship. For an indefinite time to come they will be talking were hinged on the assumption that a human fraternity, figuring there are more flies to be caught with sugar than vinegar.

Sheep And Goats

In the British by-election which let the air out of the conservatives' expanding hopes last Thursday, the winning Labor party candidate polled 23,335 votes.

His conservative-national liberal opponent, whatever that hyphenated backing means, ran a bad second with 19,313 votes. A third candidate running as an independent liberal polled 2,882 votes—and his votes are probably the key to British politics. He took enough from the Labor candidate's principal opponent to keep him from making a close race of it. In close elections, the minority chiselers hold the balance of power—and all of them in Britain will be chiseling at the expense of the conservatives, except the Communists, who are in competition with the Labor party Socialists.

A British liberal is a type also common in U. S. politics. He has no stomach for Socialists, whom he helped to put in power because they looked like the only alternative to a kind of conservatism which disgusted him. The ebb and flow of politics has left him high and dry, having only nuisance value—a political dog in the manger able to keep conservatives from getting elected by chiseling a jackal's share out of the anti-Socialist party vote.

When the sheep and goats are divided, if the sheep subdivide according to the length of their wool they'll never outnumber the goats.

Christmas Tie Trouble

NEW YORK

LADIES, I'VE BEEN a bad boy. And if Santa Claus is to come my way this year, you're going to have to get me out of the doghouse.

Hal Boyle

How can you help? By going out and buying a big fistful of Christmas neckties and giving them to the men in your lives.

About a week ago I bemoaned the fact that women were allowed by law to present neckties as Christmas gifts. I suggested the formation of a society to stop the custom.

Well, I didn't expect to be nominated man-of-the-year for this suggestion. Nor did I expect grateful fellow men to set up statues in my honor—minus a necktie—on every courthouse lawn.

On the other hand neither did I expect to end up in the doghouse. But here I am—stuck in it up to my cravat.

The first reaction came from my own wife.

"So you don't think women are smart enough to pick out neckties, Rover?" said Frances, baring a bicuspid. "You'll be lucky if you ever get even a bowtie from me, smarty. And where, anyhow, is that fur coat you promised me 12 years ago? Are you waiting for the minks to die of old age?"

RIGHT ON TOP of that Byron Fish, columnist of The Seattle Times, wanted to know if I was trying to ruin his annual Christmas party.

It seems that Seattle men are proud of the neckties their wives give them. Last Dec. 29th they held a "national necktie party day" on which every man proudly wore the most flamboyant tie on his Christmas rack.

They were going to give a grand prize, but unfortunately the judges went color blind by midday. This year Byron's going to give them blinders.

As if I wasn't feeling bad enough, along came a telegram from Pete Hoyt, managing editor of The Cedar Rapids, Ia., Gazette, claiming I had insulted a fine old Xmas tradition.

"Ten men's clothing stores here are cussing you," he said. Eighty percent of ties are bought by women for their menfolk. Some men would never wear a necktie if some woman didn't buy it for him. Think what a drab world it would be without Christmas neckties."

Pete insisted "some women" have good taste in ties and said it would be a good idea if I gave a few pointers to the rest of the girls on what kind of ties men like. So, on the chance that it will get me out of the doghouse, here goes:

THERE IS ONLY one sure way, ladies, to make a man happy with a gift cravat. He probably will be already wearing the tie he loves best. Just kick his feet out from under him, pin him with a half-Nelson, tear the tie from around his throat, take it to the store and say, "Gimme the nearest one like it you got in stock."

If you can't get his favorite tie away from him, then take a color photo of your Christmas tree to the store. Put the color photo on a stack of new ties. If they match, don't buy any. Try to select one that looks as little like the Christmas tree as possible.

Another good way is to pick out a tie and tell the salesman, "If I purchase this one, will you take it in exchange for the one you have on? I can take it home and press it and my husband will never know the difference."

If the salesman backs away in terror, choose another tie.

But if you just simply can't make up your mind, there's always this way out—buy your boy friend a tie for his tux. You can't go far astray there, ma'am even at Christmas.

Sentence Without Jury Trial

By Clarke Beach

WASHINGTON

A LOT of lawyers recently have been sentenced to jail without a jury trial. Federal judges decided they were guilty of contempt of court and gave them from one to six months in the cooler.

The cases bring out a point which most laymen don't realize: That although the Constitution in two places says that a defendant in a criminal case shall have a right to a trial by jury, there are still a lot of ways he can be imprisoned without getting a chance to tell his story to a jury.

The big contempt cases now pending are those resulting from the Harry Bridges trial in San Francisco and the trial of the 11 Communists in New York. The judges convicted seven defense attorneys of improper conduct in court—harassing, delaying tactics, tending to embarrass the judge and impede the trial. The lawyer in the Bridges case, Vincent Hallinan, was sentenced to six months, to be served when the trial is completed. Six attorneys involved in the New York case, one of them a defendant who was acting as his own lawyer, were sentenced to from one to six months. Their appeal is pending.

WHEN A FEDERAL JUDGE decides a person is guilty of contempt of court, he can fine or imprison him without indictment or even a hearing. There is no limit to the length of the sentence or the amount of the fine, as long as the punishment is not unreasonable, cruel or unusual. The law varies among the state courts, but most of them follow the federal practice to a large extent.

The power of a court to punish for contempt is as old as the history of law. You couldn't get orderly administration of justice if attorneys and others in the court could persist in disturbing and delaying the proceedings and making the judge look like a fool. And if the judge had to start complicated legal processes, including a jury trial, each time he found someone guilty of contempt, it would be possible to delay the completion of a trial indefinitely. Also there is no need for a jury to determine the facts, since the judge witnessed the offense.

There are, in fact, a lot of ways a person can be legally imprisoned without a jury trial. In military courts, for instance, and in prosecutions for petty offenses which were deemed petty at the time the Constitution was adopted.

THE QUESTION of how far a judge should go in convicting someone for contempt is a live issue. Legal scholars are debating it. The Supreme Court has given split decisions several times when the matter was brought before it. A chief complaint is about the vagueness of the legal definition of contempt. It is felt that the limits of contempt should be closely and clearly defined, since it is an exception to the great principle that trial by jury is essential to due process of law.

A famous case, Fisher vs. Pace, was decided by the Supreme Court early this year. Five of the justices upheld a Texas judge who convicted a lawyer for contemptuous conduct during a trial. Four justices dissented, criticizing the judge for acting in a fit of temper. Justices Douglas and Black, in dissenting, said the power to punish for contempt in open court "must be narrowly confined, lest it become an instrument of tyranny."

Goodbye Guys Like Bill

Come Welfare State, This Story Will Be Rare

By Inez Robb

IT IS CERTAINLY going to be dandy when the welfare state finally takes over and everyone is happy as kings. That is, as kings used to be. They have not been doing so good of late and most likely will be among the first beneficiaries of the welfare state.

But, as I was saying when I interrupted myself, it will certainly be wonderful when the welfare state turns us all out as alike as peas in a pod, with no struggle or strain on our part, and everyone of us as dun-colored as the next.

It will do away with men like William M. (Bill) Coffman of San Francisco, who was in the office the other day, buttoned into better clothes than the corner banker and giving no visible evidence that he was once a precocious Bowery bum at the age of 17.

However, I don't suppose men ought to be smart enough to be panhandlers at 17 and captains of industry forty-nine years later. The new paternal state will fix all that. But when all of us are respectable as bishops, it will be nice to remember that I once knew a guy who had the individual enterprise to be a junior Bowery bum.

So it might be well to set down some of the highlights of Bill's career as a rugged individualist as a warning to future generations.

"I HAD CHRISTMAS dinner in 1900 at the Bowery mission," said Bill, a roly-poly little man with white hair, ruddy complexion and no abashment in his make-up. "I was 17 and I stood in line with the rest of the bums for the Christmas handout."

It was a New York policeman who finally helped Bill get off the Bowery by arresting this kid from Portsmouth, Va., as a witness in a slick Bowery swindle. Bill was put in the house of detention for thirteen days where he received $2 a day as witness fee, a new suit and a pair of shoes to replace his rags.

With his new-found wealth, Bill headed west. He served a stint as a sheep-herder in Nebraska before beating his way to San Francisco, where he became an honest tenor in a Barbary Coast dance hall.

"A sort of early-day Morton Downey without talent," as Bill explains it. Bill was hitting the high notes with a will one night in 1902 when he was shanghaied, just like it's done in the movies or historical romance. One moment he was singing and the next he was silent, hit over the noggin with finality. When he woke up, he was on board the British barque "Belfast," a member of the crew and bound around Cape Horn with a cargo of wheat.

BILL, AFTER THE lump went down on his head, liked the sea so much that he stuck with it for seven years. By that time he had worked up to be first mate of a sailing ship. He might now be a merchant marine admiral except for the fact that a cargo of redwood ties fell on top of him in 1909.

But before that date, Sailor Bill had played his part in the San Francisco earthquake and fire in 1906.

When the disaster hit San Francisco, Bill ran out of his boarding house, one block from the Palace hotel, where he watched the great Caruso emerge in his pajamas and huddle on his suitcase in the middle of Market st.

But what he remembers most about the holocaust is that he went to work as a volunteer at the water front emergency hospital, and when the anaesthetics gave out, helped hold the injured on operating tables while surgeons worked over them.

WHEN HE QUIT THE SEA, Bill went to work as a day laborer digging the foundation for a new YMCA building in San Francisco. Pretty soon, he was its swimming instructor. One thing led to another and today the ex-Bowery bum, sheepherder tenor, sailor and day laborer is the western manager of one of the biggest manufacturing outfits in the United States.

He came into the office the other day to peddle a story on the great East-West football game, to be played in San Francisco on Dec. 31 for the S. F. Shriners' hospital for crippled children.

This year marks the silver anniversary of the game which Bill thought up and organized all by himself and which has aided countless crippled children in the past 25 years.

I looked and listened real good and hard as Bill talked. He is already an anachronism. The welfare state will polish him off completely.

Aussie Labor Party Swamped

Defeat Gains In Proportions Today

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 12—(AP)—The Labor government's defeat in Saturday's election neared landslide proportions today.

As vote counting continued, the victorious Liberal-Country party coalition appeared likely to win a majority of 23 seats in the house of commons, a big edge in the 121-member lower chamber of parliament.

Early returns Saturday night indicated the new government would command a majority of only seven to 11 votes, but the swing against Labor became more and more pronounced as counting neared an end.

The count by Monday afternoon indicated the Liberal party would win at least 55 seats, its partner Country party would take 17 seats, and the opposition Labor group would hold 46. Three other seats were still doubtful.

Australian people are taking little interest in the count of votes for the senate which is almost certain to retain its Labor majority. Few people, however, believe that a Labor-controlled senate would block legislation backed by the new government.

Weather Details

(International News Service)
The mercury soared to all-time highs for the date throughout Ohio today but a frigid mass of air from the northwest will send temperatures skidding by nightfall.
Cleveland broke a previous high of 61 set back in 1899 when the mercury reached 63 degrees early today. Similar marks were set in other cities engulfed by a warm air mass which moved up from the Gulf of Mexico early Saturday.
Forecaster Milton Davis predicted a low of about 22 tonight with slightly higher temperatures in the southern half of the state. Tomorrow's high is not expected to reach the freezing point but skies will be clear.
The Gulf mass is moving east and north and the influx of the western cold mass is not expected to be felt until this afternoon. In the meantime, Davis continued, a few scattered showers may fall.
The murky weather created hazardous driving conditions in some sections of the state as heavy fog cut visibility.

Evelyn Marie Tullis Wed To Glenn Robbins Saturday

IN A BECOMING gown of her own making, fashioned of blush pink bridal satin and Chantilly lace, Miss Evelyn Marie Tullis and Glenn Olin Robbins of Youngstown, were married at 4:30 p. m. Saturday in the sanctuary of the Holy Trinity Lutheran Church.

Despite the inclement weather, the church was well filled with friends of the couple who heard the exchange of vows in the single ring ceremony performed by Rev. George D. Keister.

The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Tullis of the Washingtonville rd. was given in marriage by her father. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Robbins of Youngstown.

The chancel where the bridal party stood was lighted by tapers in seven-branch candelabra and altar candles. Arrangements of white pompons and groupings of palms, ferns and grape ivy made the background setting.

Miss Gertrude Wilms, organist, played the pre-nuptial melodies, including "With This Ring I Thee Wed," "Oh Promise Me," "At Dawning" and "Tell Me Why." The traditional wedding march heralded the approach of the bridal party, while Mendelssohn's march was used in the recessional.

William Halverstadt, a cousin of the groom, sang the love lyrics of "Because" and "Through the Years," and the organist used "O Perfect Love" and "I Love You Truly" as ceremony music.

In princess style, the bride's modish blue pink satin gown was complemented by the white Chantilly lace bodice and sleeves, fitted and pointed to the wrist. The bridal veil of blush pink silk illusion framed her face and was fastened to a crescent-shape hat made of the same satin as her gown.

Wide white meline tied her arm bouquet of white carnations and maiden fern, which, with stephanotis and maidenhair fern in shower effect, surrounded a white orchid.

For something old, the bride wore a hand-carved gold chain and yellow amethyst pendant, which came from England and had belonged to her great great, great aunt.

Miss Shirley Davidson was maid of honor and Mrs. Glen Eckert (Jane Davidson) of Columbiana was bridesmaid. Their gowns were distinctively "different," but were styled the same with Queen Anne collars, fitted bodices, long full skirts and short sleeves.

Miss Davidson's gown was in a true-gold satin material and a bronze feather hat, the gift of the bride, was worn in contrast. The cascade bouquet she carried was made up of bronze pompons and centered with gold pompons interwoven with maidenhair fern and tufts of multi-colored satin.

Mrs. Eckert wore emerald green satin with a halo of pink feathers, also a gift of the bride. Yellow pompons and tufts of multi-colored satin worked through her bouquet also was in cascade arrangement.

Donald Ruse of Youngstown was best man. The ushers were Gene Tullis, brother of the bride, and George Blunt of Youngstown, brother-in-law of the groom. They were remembered with personal gifts.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Tullis appeared in teal blue with black accessories, while Mrs. Robbins' frock was of green crepe. Her accessories also were black, and they both had corsages of pink rosebuds.

In traditional ceremony, the newlyweds cut the beautiful three-tiered wedding cake at the reception in the church parlors immediately following the wedding. Topping the cake was a tiny realistic bridal couple and bell arrangement.

Presiding at the silver service at the long linen-laid refreshment table were Mrs. Gene Tullis, sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. George Blunt, sister of the groom. Miss Betty Tullis and Mrs. Janice Parshall, cousins of the bride, were in charge of cutting the cake and of the gift table respectively. Miss Gayle Greenstein, cousin of the groom, took care of the guest register.

The guest list was made up of people from Salem and vicinity, Alliance, Cleveland, Columbiana, Youngstown, Warren, New Castle, Marysville, Tiffin and Kent. For traveling, the new Mrs. Robbins wore a grey suit, pink feather hat and the orchid from her bouquet. After a week's trip to the East, the couple will make their home at 39 W. Phinceton ave., Youngstown.

Mrs. Robbins graduated from Salem High School and was employed in the law offices of Reese and Fitch. Her husband, a graduate of Youngstown South Side High School, attended Youngstown college for one year. He served in the Army for three years and is now employed by the Commercial Credit Corp. of Youngstown.

GROUP SINGING of Christmas carols and an exchange of gifts afforded pleasure for members of the Martha Circle of the Daughters of Emmanuel of the Emmanuel Lutheran Church Friday evening in the home of Mrs. Vincent Moore, Prospect st.

Each member contributed a number to a musical program. Mrs. Ernest Hobe was pianist for carol singing.

Festivities concluded with a coverdish supper. The table, beautifully appointed in keeping with the Yule season, was centered with a novelty arrangement.

Experts Discount Ohio 'Viking' Finds

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12—(AP)—Smithsonian institution scientists have rejected a new report of evidence that Vikings lived in Ohio before Christopher Columbus visited this continent.

Arlington H. Mallery of Washington caused a stir among historians and archaeologists with a report that he has uncovered relics in Ohio of a Viking expedition dating back more than 500 years. Smithsonian has placed on file a report of on-the-spot investigation declaring the relics probably date back to the early 1800's, and had nothing to do with Vikings. The report was prepared by Staff Scientist Ralph S. Solecki, who visited Ohio. Solecki also rejected Mallery's contention that he had found the site of Viking iron furnaces in the vicinity of Spruce Hill, near Bournville. Solecki said he traced those pits back to a Gen. Meassie, who died in 1831.

Steel Production Hits Highest Since June

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 12—(INS)—For the first time since June, steel ingot production in the Pittsburgh district last week climbed above the 90 percent mark. A further increase is expected next week. Mill schedules indicate that operations during the week beginning Sunday will be at 95.4 percent of capacity. Preliminary estimates showed that production in the week ending Saturday approximated 94.3 percent.

Deer Hunter Shot As He Dressed Kill

ST. MARYS, Pa., Dec. 12—(UP)—George Valuska, 36, of Ingram, Pa., was struck by a stray bullet and wounded fatally Saturday as he dressed a doe he had just killed in a woods near Emporium. Valuska, father of three, was brought to St. Marys Hospital by his hunting companion and nephew, Paul Pavelka, 18, of Mingo Junction, O. He died about four hours later.

3 Toledo Men Think Of Opposing Taft

CLEVELAND, Dec. 12—(AP)—Toledo topped other Ohio cities today with three men tinkering with the idea of opposing Senator Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) in 1950. Frazier Reams, ex-state welfare director and a former Lucas county prosecutor, was the latest. But two others from Toledo already have been mentioned as possible candidates for the Democratic senatorial nomination: Mayor Michael V. Di Salle and Attorney - Publisher Edward Lamb.

Reams planned a conference with Mayor Thomas A. Burke on the subject today, sources said. Specifically, they continued, Reams wants to ask Burke about his chances of winning the vote in Cuyahoga county if he does run in the primary.

If Reams decides to run, he will have Burke or DiSalle as a competitor, possibly Lamb, State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson and William L. White of Newark, O., an inventor.

TWINS, TRIPLETS BORN TO MOTHER WITHIN A YEAR.—“Christmas will be different this year,” says Mrs. Thelma Gibbs (center) as she sits in her home at Atlanta, Ga., surrounded by babies—none of whom were here this time last year. Her advice to mothers is for plenty of patience and a good washing machine, but the Gibbses have no machine. The twenty-seven-year-old mother identified the 11-month-old twins as Wayne and Jane (left and right), and the triplets as Lynda, Brenda and Glenda (left to right), a month old yesterday. The father works in a parking lot.

Income Question Raises GOP Cry

Census Proposal Meets Opposition

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12—(UP)—Twenty-three Republican congressmen protested today that plans to survey family finances in the 1950 census are a “raw injustice” to low-income persons.

In a joint statement, they said the Truman administration is not only flouting the constitution but is also “perpetrating an outrageous discrimination against small income people.”

Their statement endorsed the sharp protest lodged with the Census Bureau over the weekend by Rep. Clarence Brown (R) of Ohio.

Mr. Brown complained after the Bureau announced that its census-takers would ask every fifth person to disclose his annual income. The Bureau said the “sampling” is needed to improve economic statistics. Anyone who refused to answer could face penalties of up to 60 days in jail and a $100 fine, or both.

Mr. Brown said the proposed income questions are an illegal invasion of privacy. The GOP congressman added that it was outright discrimination against low-income persons.

They noted that the Bureau will seek detailed information only from those earning under $10,000 a year. The others, they said, merely say their income is above $10,000 “and the census-taker is to be satisfied.” “This is a raw injustice,” they said. “The Truman administration is perpetrating an outrageous discrimination against small income people.”

Midway Grange Has Christmas Party

Midway Grange enjoyed a Christmas party last Friday night.

The hall was decorated in garlands and ceiling streamers of pale blue, which formed a nice contrast with pine boughs on the windows, and the large Christmas tree, which stood beside a brick fireplace.

So ample was the chimney, that Santa Claus, alias Orrville Chellis actually descended, shortly after the sleighbells were heard.

Previous to Santa's coming, the adults matched pictures for supper partners, and Christmas carols, led by Thomas Cope, were sung. Mrs. Frank Painter told a Christmas story to the 83 children present.

Linda Ward entertained with piccolo solos, and a boys' quartet composed of Wayne Stiller, James Russell, Paul Farmer, George Keyser sang two Christmas carols.

Santa Claus presented balloons and books, and stockings full of goodies to the children. A gift exchange was held for the adults, and lunch was served.

The affair was in charge of the home economics committee, composed of Leeta Caldwell, Hattie Brinker and Bessie Kibler.

The party committee was made up of Mary Bell, Beulah Converse, Florence Todd, Melva Cooley, Ona Farmer and Eunice Russell. The Christmas stockings were made by hand and packed by the committee.

As Santa went back up the chimney, he sang “Merry Christmas to All, and to All Good Night.”

Niles Steel Company Hikes Price $10 Ton

NILES, Dec. 12 — (UP)—Mahoning Valley Steel Co. announced today that it is boosting its prices by $10 per ton immediately.

This action, expected for some time, is the result of higher raw materials and operating costs, officials said.

Sharon Steel Corp., which supplies sheet bars to Mahoning Valley, recently boosted the prices of its semi-finished steel by $5 per ton. Consequently, Mahoning is merely passing on this increase to its customers, since a part of the sheet bars it buys become scrap during rolling.

Building Activity

Work On Smith Apartments To Begin At Third, Vine

Six new apartments will be built on the second floor of the new J. G. Smith garage at the corner of E. Third st. and Vine ave., according to a building permit secured last week by Smith. Construction costs have been estimated at $20,000. Each apartment will contain three rooms and bath with three apartments somewhat larger than the other three because of larger living rooms and kitchens.

They will be heated by self-contained gas units. A concrete hallway will be constructed in the center of the section and four-inch walls will separate the apartments.

With construction due to start immediately, Smith hopes to have the apartments ready for occupancy by May 1.

The Sponseller Construction Co. is the general contractor. Other contracts are held by Firestone Electric for the electrical system; W. E. Mounts Co., heating, and Homer Ellyson & Son, plumbing.

Dwelling Resided

Repairs and residing operations have been completed on the dwelling at 413 S. Lincoln ave. R. L. Smith, owner, said he selected the heavy brick-like siding, which, with painting and landscaping, has added much to the attractiveness of the home.

Joseph Murray of Depot road applied the siding. Other work was handled by Wilms for landscaping and Penny painters. The estimated cost of the project was $1,300.

Floodlights Installed

Six large floodlights have been installed around the City Hospital buildings. Greater night safety in the parking grounds and around the hospital is provided by non-glare lights. They were installed by the Firestone Electric Co.

New Home Underway

The new home of Clifford L. Mounts at 1901 N. Ellsworth ave. is underway, and the Mounts hope to occupy it within a few months. It is being built on the one-floor plan and will utilize frame construction.

The home will contain five rooms; two bedrooms, bath, kitchen, living room, hallway and utility room. An automatic gas unit will heat the home. Chester Gow is handling the building contract. Cost has been estimated at $5,000.

Service Room Ready

Construction has been completed on the new Sears-Roebuck auto-service building in back of the main structure. It is a 24 by 30 foot concrete block structure over six-inch re-inforced concrete floor.

The building will be used to service vehicles with store products. Two sets of eight-foot overhead doors have been erected. The flat roof is composed of a slag and tar composition.

Kille & Haessly are the general contractors. The mason supplies and doors were supplied by the Salem Builders Supply Co. Sears will provide the self-contained gas heating unit. Chappell & Zimmerman supplied the concrete block and brick.

Kille & Haessly also are busy next door at the Strauss-Hirshberg building where they are installing an enclosed loading dock and stock room shelves.

Suppliers Ordering

Expecting a busy spring building season in 1950, many Salem builders supplies companies are either ordering or preparing to increase orders for the growing business. Chappell & Zimmerman recently said they expect a sizable increase in home construction and home projects.

Among the new products offered during 1948 by building suppliers, this company found the most welcomed material is the new rubberized enamel paint which contractors and painters have found to be decorative, long-lasting and a suitable glazed tile water seal.

A spokesman at the Salona Supply Co. remarked that the growing call for concrete blocks for home building, as well as non-residential structures, was very noticeable this year.

He reminded builders who select the blocks to use a proven water seal if they intend to use plaster on the interior walls. To eliminate seepage, both the exterior and interior walls should be covered by a good water seal. He stated remodeling and repair work accounts for much of the present building activity.

Home Ideas

To provide extra space for washing or soaking clothes, it often is convenient to use a steel utility basket. Made of sturdy, lightweight galvanized steel, these baskets have handles for easy carrying. After the washing is done, they may be used to carry damp laundry with no fear of water dripping on clean floors.

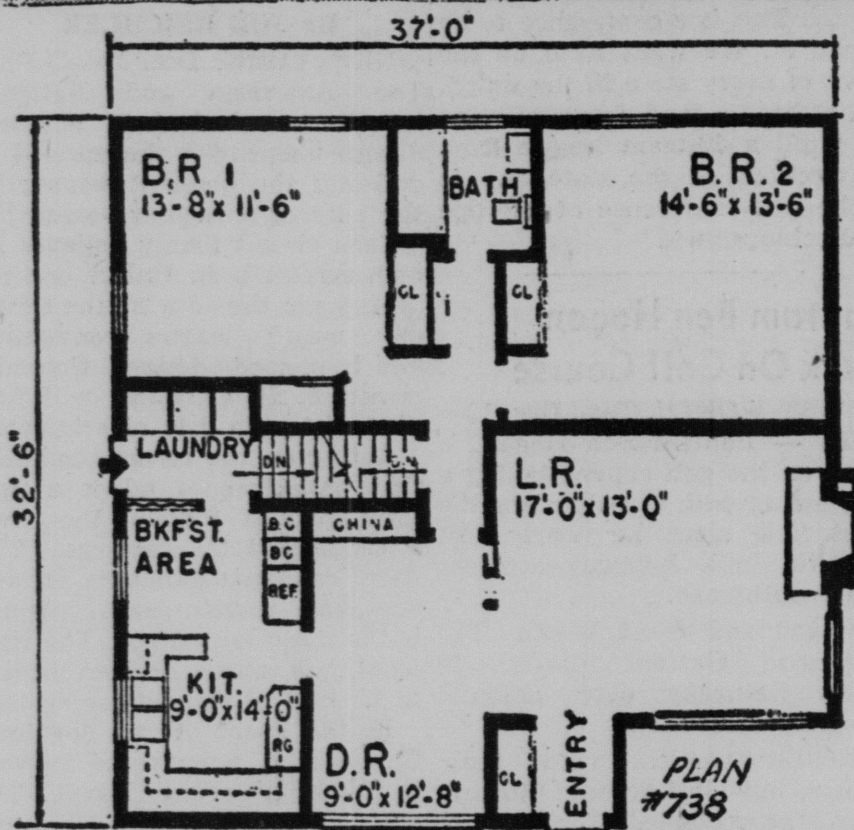

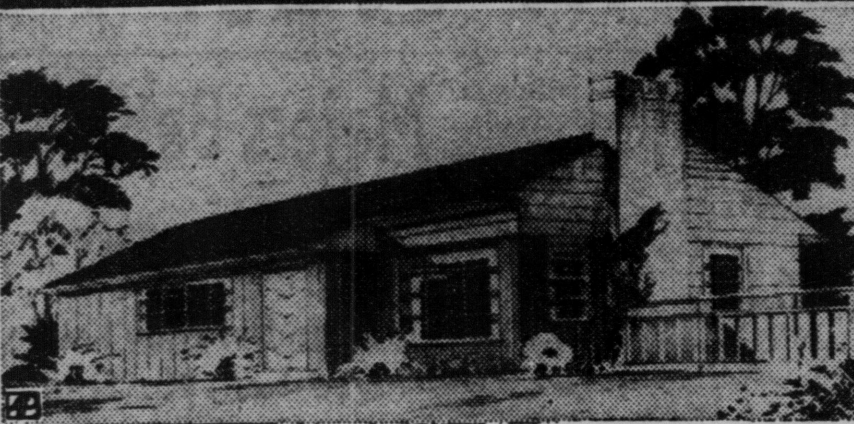

For an attractive way to decorate a freestanding convactor radiator, paint the sides and front of the unit in one shade and the top in a contrasting color. The front and sides may be painted to match the color of the walls, while the top might correspond with the color of draperies or upholstery material.

Hardwood floors are easy to keep clean, but the task can be made even easier by placing a thick doormat outside each entrance of a home. This is especially true during the winter months when snow and slush are likely to be tracked into the house.

Many homemakers, however, keep doormats at entrances the year 'round and find that they save considerable wear and tear on the floor finish. When the doormats are shaken clean every day or so, and members of the family are cautioned to use them on entering the house, very little dirt is brought in.

Because sanitary conditions are essential in dairy barns and milk houses, many farmers find it advisable to line the interiors of such buildings with material that can be cleaned easily. Asbestos cement board, for example, is often used for such structures. It has a smooth hard surface which can be washed, hosed or scraped

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

AN EFFICIENT PLAN is this five-room house that can be expanded into seven rooms by adding two bedrooms and an extra bath on the second floor. The architect suggests an exterior of gray vertical siding, white trim and a roof of blue-gray asphalt shingles.

(For additional information on this plan, enclose the clipping and write to the real estate editor of The Salem News.)

without damage. The material is ratproof and fireproof.

As many of today's homes are being built without basements and have a "crawl" space between the ground and first floor, experts say that such structures need additional insulation. It should be placed at the first floor level and roof and sidewalls. Insulating board is often used between the floor and subfloor. The "crawl" space should be ventilated to stop dampness.

Better Ads Suggested

An advertising director recently advised home builders to revise selling techniques if they want to make as many sales next year as they have in 1949.

Gates Ferguson of Chicago, advertising director of the Elotex Corp., addressed the annual convention of the Ohio Home Builders Association.

He urged builders not to hesitate in spending money for guidance in advertising, saying: "Very few home builders know how to draft an ad which will bring the public to their model homes." Home buyers must be catered to, he said, and builders should offer features that appeal to buyers—not just four walls and a roof.

A "guaranteed home" was suggested during a panel discussion at the meeting. Charles Klekamp, vice president of the Norwood Fashion Door Manufacturing Co., suggested builders offer guarantees against leaking roofs, wet cellar walls, defective wiring and improperly fitted doors.

Owners Responsibility

The landlord who gets a rent increase has a special obligation to keep up his property and provide the services included in the ceiling rent, Area Rent Director William H. Blackford said recently.

His reminder was prompted by tenants' reports that their landlords have cut out services or failed to make needed repairs after rents were increased. "These landlords are violating an important requirement which Congress attached to all adjustments under the 1949 law," Blackford explained.

"Every landlord who submits a petition for increase also certifies that he has been maintaining all services required by the rent regulations and will continue to furnish them if his petition for an increase in rent is granted. "And in fairness to the tenant who pays a higher rent, we insist that landlords live up to their agreement," he added.

Blackford said that his office attempts to get the services restored before taking other action. If the landlord refuses to fulfill his agreement to maintain services, then the rent office can reduce the maximum rent and seek a refund of overcharges.

Young Buy Homes

Despite a severe housing shortage and despite high building costs, young families are still managing to find and buy homes of their own.

According to a new Federal Reserve study of non-farm families, described this month by the women's division of the Institute of Life Insurance, some 40 percent of all young families are now home owners, and another sizable bloc is planning to buy or build soon.

In the nation as a whole and among families of all ages the 1949 figure for home ownership stands at just over 50 percent, perhaps the highest in U. S.

Furnace Feeding Is Art

BY BOB SCHARFF

Even when your heating plant is clean and in good repair, you can't get the most out of it unless you know how to maintain an efficient fire. Firing a furnace is an art—not merely a matter of throwing in a few shovelfuls of coal and letting it go at that.

The proper way to hand fire a furnace is to shake the grates easily until you see the first glow in the ashes in the ash pit. Then with the shovel or with a rake, pull the live coals toward the back if the firebed toward the feed door.

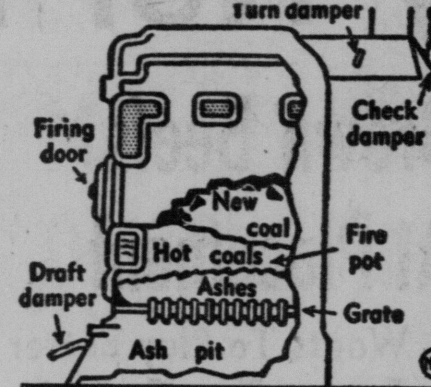

This forms a cavity sloping downward towards the back of the fire box. Into this cavity put the fresh coal, being sure to leave a spit of live coals showing in the front to ignite the fresh coal and burn up the gases. The fire bed level should be kept even with the bottom of the firing door at all times.

When re-coaling, keep the turn damper in its usual closed position, the ashpit door or damper open, and the check damper closed. Remember that ashpit and danger of a "complete breakdown."

Specifically, these people think the government may go a step further and attempt to tell FHA-financed property owners they must sell or rent to anyone who comes along.

Federal housing officials completely deny this.

A furnace with a good fire.

check dampers work alternately, when one is open, the other should be closed. If the ashpit damper is opened it means more heat, while the check damper slows down the fire.

Controlling the furnace draft and dampers by means of a thermostat will eliminate the waste of fuel and unnecessary high temperatures that result when several members of the household tend the fire.

An oil burner is most efficient when it burns with a yellowish-orange flame that has a barely noticeable tinge of dark smoke at the top. If the fire is dark and sooty, adjust the burner to increase the air supply. A clear, white flame, on the other hand is an indication that too much air is being consumed with the oil.

The electrical controls and safety devices on an automatic stoker or oil burner are very delicate precision instruments. Don't tinker with them—it's an expert's job.

Rams To Tangle With Eagles Sunday

NEW YORK, Dec. 12—(AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles and Los Angeles Rams will bump helmets next Sunday for the National league title, plus a seat next to the Cleveland Browns of the All-American conference as co-champions of 1949 pro football.

The Browns, by routing the San Francisco 49ers, 21-7, in their play-off final in Cleveland yesterday, were champions of the now defunct AAC since its inception in 1946. Their four-year reign is a pro grid record.

The Rams had to go right down to the last game of the regular season to clinch the western division title in the NFL. They blasted Washington's Redskins, 53-27, before 44,899 coast admirers. The triumph assured them of meeting the eastern division winners, the Eagles, in the titular playoff in Los Angeles.

Chicago's Bears, who had to win while the Rams were losing in order to overtake Los Angeles, did their part by battering the Chicago Cardinals, 52-21. The Eagles, who locked up their third consecutive eastern division title two weeks ago and now seek a second straight NFL championship, merely made their 1949 record more impressive (11-1-0) by dusting off the New York Giants, 17-3.

The Pittsburgh Steelers ousted the Giants from second place in the eastern section by blanketing the weak New York Bulldogs, 27-0.

The Green Bay Packers, National league kingpins three straight years from 1929 through 1931, again afforded evidence of how the mighty have fallen. They lost their finale to Detroit, 21-7, winding up the campaign with a 2-10 record.

Next Sunday's NFL final will come just one day before the official merger of that league and the AAC into a newly formed 13-club organization to be known as the National-American football league.

Brown Beefs At Placement

Wants To Play Better Teams; Two To Retire

BY FRITZ HOWELL

CLEVELAND, Dec. 12—(AP)—Professional football peace isn't a full-fledged fact so far as Cleveland's Browns are concerned. Paul E. Brown, dapper and dynamic mentor of the club which yesterday won its fourth straight All-American conference title said early today the Browns might not field a team next fall.

Discussing last week's "merger" of the 10 National league and three All-America clubs, Brown said:

"Unless we get what we need in personnel to fill our gaps, plus a place in the division with the better clubs, then we'll not be interested in the new league and we'll be out of business."

Brown said his contract with Owner Arthur (Mickey) McBride—a personal contract—gave him (Brown) complete control over football policy and that McBride would concur should he decide to fold the tent of what has been termed hereabouts as "the greatest show in football."

The Browns defeated San Francisco's 49ers by 21-7 yesterday to become the only pro team ever to win its league title four times in a row.

"We've earned the right to play the top clubs, the ones that will draw," Brown said. "Cleveland is entitled to see the best. Our fans want to see us against Philadelphia, Washington, Chicago Bears, New York Giants and the Detroit Lions—and that's the division we want in if the league is split up that way."

So far, nothing is official on the members of the two divisions under the new setup. However, it is believed the Browns are grouped with the San Francisco 49ers, the Baltimore Colts, the Los Angeles Rams, the Detroit Lions, the Chicago Cardinals and the New York Bulldogs.

Brown said he understood the peace agreement stated Cleveland was to get a few players from Buffalo under a partial merger setup, with the other players going into a common pool to be shared by all the clubs on a draft basis.

"Maybe we'll get the players we need and want, and maybe we won't," he said. "It really looks as if all we'll get from Buffalo is some of Jim Breuil's cash, since he's given the right to buy part of our club, but we need players more than cash."

Brown also indicated the peace agreement was not a merger, but a capitulation by some of the All-America clubs and he feared that in future matters the three All-America survivors might be on the short end of a 10-3 vote.

Asked how he thought his Browns would fare against the best in the new league, Brown grinned and answered:

"Now that we're in the national, I presume we've won our last football game." In the four years of All-America conference play, Brown's teams won 52, lost four and tied three.

"Our team," Brown went on seriously, "is beginning to leak at the seams. Frankly, we are 25 per cent under what we were two years ago. Some of our boys are getting older, possibly tiring a little. But they have esprit de corps, and can be fired high for any given game. When the chips are down they are superb."

"They talk about stopping our Marion Motley. Well, Mr. Motley is no picnic for anyone. In setting up defenses for us, the first thing they all do is try to stop Motley, but they seldom do it. They guy's just a snoot full

State Champ Battle Goes On

Mather Delivers His Ultimatum To Group

BY FRITZ HOWELL

CLEVELAND, Dec. 12—(AP)—The year-old six-team Ohio Scholastic conference, faced with the possible loss of one of its most glamorous charterites—Massillon Washington—was on the hunt today for new members.

Massillon, state champion the last two seasons as Coach Chuck Mather led the Tigers to 18 wins and two defeats, is ready to withdraw if the rugged circuit insists on nominating its champion for the mythical state title.

Mather contends a league poll this fall, in which Mansfield was named as the circuit's choice for state honors, jeopardized Massillon's bid for the same title. Massillon won, however, in the state Associated Press sportswriters' poll for the second straight year.

Several other coaches, after a heated argument with Mather at Saturday night's league meeting here, said they planned to go ahead with the plan to push the league champ for the big title. That left it up to Mather to back down from his ultimatum or go through with his withdrawal threat.

"If the league decides to continue this state title business," Mather declared, "Massillon is quitting."

Mather said it appeared preposterous on the part of the league to nominate its winner for the state title, since the loop embraces only six of some 570 teams in the state.

The Massillon mentor criticized President "Heinie" Beck of Warren for taking what Mather termed an unauthorized poll of members on the title race. When other coaches explained why they had voted for Mansfield—the majority said it was because Massillon lost to that club—Mather declared:

"You are all against me, and for any team.

"Out there yesterday the 49ers looped their line and shot their linebackers in an attempt to stop him—and it cost them the ball game."

Motley ran 63 yards for the touchdown which clinched the game, and quarterback Otto Graham sneaked through the looping line for 62 yards in nine tries.

The Browns leave tonight for Saturday's all-star game at Houston, Tex. Brown, a strict disciplinarian, said:

"There's nothing serious about this one, but we'll try our best to win it. It's a 'just for fun' game, and we're going to enjoy it."

"For the last time this year I've stuck the needle in my kids. They've been good to me, those kids, and they're all great performers. Most of them will take their wives along on this trip."

Saturday will mark the final pro game for center Lou Saban, former Indiana great and captain of the Browns, and guard Bob Gaudio, formerly of Ohio State. Both are retiring, Saban to coach and Gaudio to go into the construction business.

McBride said he was proud of his four-time champs, that he would back Brown to the limit, and then he gave his coach a new automobile for the fourth straight year.

One of the club wagsters, viewing the turmoil surrounding the pro peace pact, suggested:

"Maybe, until this thing is all cleared up, they should call the new league the 'Synchronized National - American Football Union.' The first letters spell 'Snafu.'"

Majors Battle Over Playoffs

Chandler May Settle Question; No Trades

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, Dec. 12—(AP)—The American and National leagues are locked in hopeless disagreement over the method of deciding the pennant winner in the case of a regular season tie.

Each circuit firmly believes its own system best. Unless one relents some time during the three-day major league convention which opened today, Commissioner A. B. Chandler will find himself in the role of arbitrator.

Acting on the recommendation that both leagues adopt a uniform playoff system, the two loops agreed to disagree. The American insists that its present one-game sudden-death playoff is the more logical one. The National, in a caucus, decided to cling to its best-of-three-game system.

In the event of a deadlock, Chandler is empowered to vote in favor of either league. The other must abide by his ruling. Of course, the commissioner can decide to allow each league to follow its own dictates, but that is not likely since he is known to favor a uniform playoff system.

Each league has had need for only one post-season playoff in its entire history. Brooklyn and St. Louis met in a best-of-three game playoff in 1946 after finishing in a regular National league season tie. The American had a deadlocked season two years later which necessitated a one-game playoff between Cleveland and the Boston Red Sox.

Other problems to be discussed at the meetings include radio and television, elimination of darkness—called games, the high school and bonus rule, and an increase in the number of night games.

More important from the fans' viewpoint is activity in the trade mart. While the minor league convention in Baltimore last week was full of trade talk, not a deal was announced.

The general feeling still exists that the Boston Braves cannot quit the meetings here without completing at least one player exchange. Not too many take Manager Bill Southworth's "peace" declaration seriously.

Veteran observers insist that Billy must get rid of some of his malcontents of the 1949 season before he can feel at ease about his 1950 job.

The Braves admittedly have talked with the New York Giants, Chicago Cubs and Cincinnati Reds, without mentioning names.

Ohio Officials Favor Old Rules

COLUMBUS, Dec. 12 — (AP) —The Ohio Association of Football Officials was on record today as being opposed to adoption of the "high school federation" football rules. It will urge that Ohio high schools retain collegiate rules.

The association took the action favoring the collegiate rules yesterday during its annual meeting here. During the session Eric Calhoun of Cleveland Heights was elected president.

Other officers named were: John McPhee, Poland, vice president; Harold W. Emmsilver, Columbus, reelected secretary-treasurer; and Norman Kies, Toledo; John Halliday, Gallipolis, and E. J. Sebald of Middletown, retiring president, members of the executive board.

Ohio is one of nine states, plus a number of metropolitan areas, where high school football teams play under collegiate rules.

A referendum by the Ohio High School Athletic association is due in January during which high schools will vote on whether to stay collegiate or "go federation."

The referendum has been instigated by principals of 57 high schools—several in Cleveland and the others in schools which are along the state borders and which frequently play teams from Indiana, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Kentucky and West Virginia.

In the latter cases the Ohio coaches must instruct their boys on federation rules if the game is played away from home.

Salem Property Owner Calls Auditor 'Mean'

LISBON, Dec. 12—Columbiana County Auditor I. J. Vorn-dran denied today he ever rubbed out St. Nick, but you couldn't convince a certain property owner.

Mr. Vorn-dran, who recently announced the county will publish a delinquent tax list, opened his mail at the courthouse here and found this anonymous letter:

"Mr. Vorn-dran, alias John L. Lewis of Columbiana county, you shot Santa Claus for many a child! Are you happy? With strikes and no work, who wants to catch up on taxes in December? Our kids want Christmas."

"I don't suppose you know its meaning or you would have no part of taking it from a baby—their Christmas. January would have been just as good, but no, don't save our face from humiliation by having our name in the paper regardless of how honorable we are and we must sacrifice our children's Christmas for your petty whim."

"Every dog has his day—you'll get yours because what you are doing doesn't make happiness. You're robbing us of ours."

The letter was postmarked Salem, Mr. Vorn-dran said.

Loony Larceny Noted In '49

One Individual Even Stole Golf Green

THE LOONIES larcenists of 1949 are the anonymous looters who lifted a putting green right out of a country club.

They left the hole when they rolled up the No. 5 green at Warren Valley Golf Club in Detroit, but they got away with every last blade of grass.

Also in the hole for the year's loony larceny roundup were two men in Louisville, Ky., who were found hauling a manhole cover in a stolen wagon. It took six policemen to lift the cover and they never did find out how two men got it in the wagon or where the manhole was that the cover came from.

There were, apparently, some highly choosy burglars on the loose in '49. One guy cracked into a parked car in Providence, R. I., and walked off with 12 shrouds belonging to a casket salesman.

Another lad swiped 23 alligators from an Ocala, Fla., menagerie.

Then there was the Philadelphia man who was arrested and charged with stealing a 20-ton crane. In Phoenix, Ariz., somebody stole a sign reading, "Dog For Sale," which was, apparently, just what he'd always wanted; he went back and got the dog the next night.

Besides doing some heavy sleuthing, the cops were on the receiving end a few times this year. In Detroit, one policeman was accused of lifting his fellow officers' lunches. In Tokyo, a discharged cop stole clothing and approximately $100 from police headquarters. And a candidate for sheriff in Indianapolis was sentenced to two years for doing his campaigning in a stolen automobile.

Among the odd ways crooks were caught this year was the Case of the Cheesy Teethmarks. The culprit, in the middle of ransacking a grocery store in Springfield, Mo., took time out for a snack. He took a healthy bite out of a piece of cheese—and they nabbed him by matching teeth marks.

A victim of a Memphis, Tenn., robbery told police the robber was "sucking on a popsicle and escaping on a bicycle." That was enough for the Memphis cops who caught up with a wayward child with a passion for popsicles, bicycles and other persons' property.

The easiest capture made by police in 1949 happened in Leeds, England. The police got a call from a man who said he was trapped in a clothing store. When they reached the scene, they wondered how he got in. It turned out he broke in on nefarious business, then couldn't get out and had to call the bobbies for help.

In Malibu, Calif., a woman's purse was snatched from her parked car as she approached. Later, she picked up a familiar-looking hitchhiker and drove him over to the sheriff's office. She got her money back.

For criminals with imagination, consider the Chicago burglar who tried to serve on the jury scheduled to try him. Understandably, the judge excused him.

And then there was the inquiry received by a Niagara Falls, N.Y., helicopter manufacturer. Information was requested on down payment needed, carrying capacity and other pertinent facts. The letter came from an inmate in an Illinois penitentiary.

A surprise shower was held Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Charles Snyder for Mrs. Wayne Hillier who was married Thanksgiving. Many useful and beautiful gifts were received.

Lunch was served. Miss Gloria Besett of Canton was an out of town guest.

Questions and Answers

Q—At which inauguration were the White House furnishings badly damaged by spectators?

A—When Andrew Jackson was inaugurated mobs of people followed him into the White House. Punch bowls, glasses and dishes were smashed and frontiersmen found the view better if they stood on the satin furniture with their muddy boots. Jackson himself was pinned against the wall and only through the formation of a human chain was he able to escape.

Q—Is there such a thing as a barkless dog?

A—The basenji dogs, imported from Africa a few years ago, are known as barkless dogs.

AWED by his new world surroundings, little Jochen Reinhardt, 3, is shown on his arrival in New York by plane from Germany. Jochen was met at the airport by Curt Ritter of Falls Church, Va., who will adopt him. The youngster was orphaned at the age of one when his parents died in an auto accident in Nuremberg.

Columbiana's Yule Party To Be On Air

COLUMBIANA, Dec. 12—Station WKBN of Youngstown has announced that it will broadcast one-half hour of the Columbiana Christmas party and carol singing at the public square Saturday evening, Dec. 24, which will begin at 7 o'clock and continue until 7:45.

The program will include religious aspects of the Christmas season as well as gayety. Santa Claus will appear to present every child under 12 with a treat.

The first annual community Christmas party in Columbiana will be heard all over northeastern Ohio.

Christmas lighting in Columbiana this year so far exceeds the display last year in which 4,000 bulbs were used.

Twenty arches span Main st. from Union st. to a block north of the public square and a block both east and west on Park ave. Eight strings of lights extend from a tall pole in the center of the square to each of the eight corners of intersecting streets and atop the pole is a large star illuminated with a white light.

Columbiana Eagles' illuminated Christmas tree at the southwest corner of the square is an added attraction.

The lighting effect is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. Citizens who desire to help with the expense are invited to leave contributions at either of the banks.

Receipts, Disbursements Of Fair Board Shown

LISBON, Dec. 12—The annual financial statement of the Columbiana County Agricultural Society reveals receipts of $22,985.20 at the county fair last September, Secretary J. Howard Sinclair announces.

Receipts represent all sources of revenue and with a balance on hand of $10,357.10 brings the total to $33,342.30.

Disbursements during the fair amounted to $32,742.87, leaving a balance in the treasury of $599.43. Included in the above amount was $7,548.64 expended during the summer for repairs and remodeling of the fair buildings, while $4,873.98 was spent for labor and for additional help at the fair.

Special attractions were provided at a cost of $4,491.50, while $6,505.67 was expended in premiums, and $1,501.32 paid in federal tax. Salary and expenses of the directors was $1,313.32, the secretary-treasurer's salary of $1,000, office help $354, and printing and advertising $2,348.28.

Columbiana High Nets $1,075 In Campaign

COLUMBIANA, Dec. 12—Proceeds of a magazine drive by Columbiana High School students amounted to $1,075, part of which will be devoted to improvements in the High School auditorium.

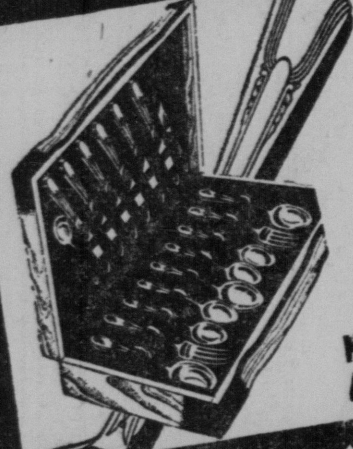

Three prizes were awarded for the most sales: William Foertch, sophomore, first, a watch; Fred Koch, freshman, second, a basketball, and Carolyn Gano, sophomore, third, jewelry.

The Junior Tri-Hi-Y made the most sales of subscriptions, the Torch Club second, the Hi-Y third, and the Senior Tri-Hi-Y fourth. Mrs. Frederick Liston of the High School faculty managed the campaign.

Since the advent of wireless, later radio and then television, hardly a day goes by without some new technical word coined for the language.
